Light India & Electrical Building Technology India 2016 mark a successful first co-located edition

The first unified edition of Light India and Electrical Building Technology India (EBT India) 2016 made a significant impact on the business of lighting and smart technologies for the industry players. The three-day business event, held from 5 – 7 October 2016, was not only successful in bringing new technologies to the fore but created an optimistic furore in the market of smart lighting and building automation with a host of new and creative solutions on display.

Light India & Electrical Building Technology India 2016 held together this year was another feather in the cap of Messe Frankfurt, the organisers of the exhibition. The theme of smart technologies in lighting and building was rightly depicted. Most exhibitors demonstrated the intelligent light that mesmerised visitors and building technologies was a fascinating addition. I wish that the next edition in 2018 will move further ahead in its goal to bring in futuristic lighting on display.

Mr Shyam Sujan, Secretary General, ELCOMA

Attainment of exhibitor satisfaction by participating in the trade fair

Government plans to make Delhi a solar city and we have finalised the solar policy, with plans targeting 1000 megawatt in five years and 10,000 megawatts in 10 years. The conference along with the exhibition was useful in providing enough information in this regard, and the speakers also discussed about the industry insights in detail.

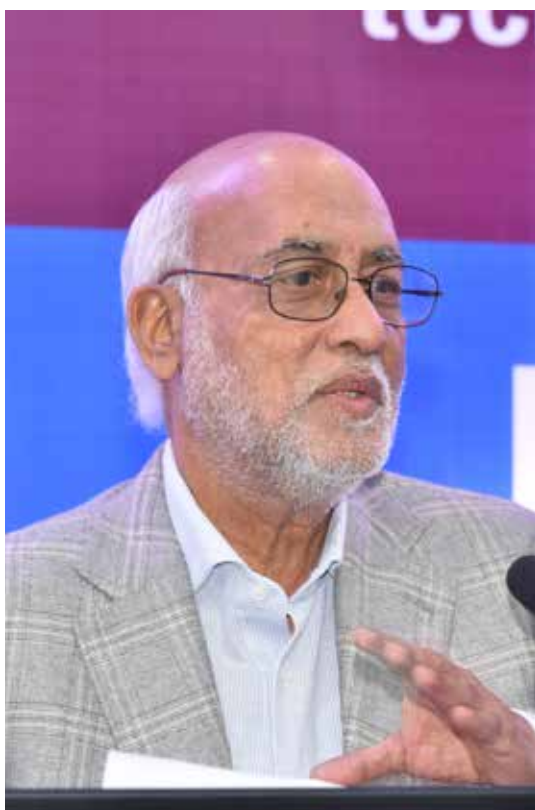

Shri Sukesh Kumar Jain,
IRS, Power Secretary,
Government of NCT of Delhi

I must appreciate the fact that this show has given us an opportunity to connect with some of the top brands in industry and we are amazed to see the kind of technological advancement showcased by some of the companies exhibiting here. It is my second day at the show and there is still a lot to explore. The show is indeed a treat to be at, we eagerly look forward to see the next edition of the show.

Mr Rupinder Singh Sachdeva, Co-Chairman Punjab & Member Managing Committee, PHD Chamber of Commerce and Industry
